

The Midlands Food Company, a proudly family-run enterprise, is based at Hilltop Farm in the beautiful Kamberg Valley, part of the Southern Drakensberg mountain range.

Good food is an integral part of our lives and having owned and operated restaurants and hotels for over 20 years, we appreciate the need for high quality ingredients prepared and packaged for convenience. Having started out bottling various fresh products in our own kitchen at home, we discovered that extended family and friends were wanting more and more of what we produced and hence the Midlands Food Company was born.

Now, a fully GFSI accredited packing factory takes pride of place on our small farm and we supply our superior products, sourced both locally and abroad, to wholesalers, retailers, as well as numerous food outlets throughout South Africa and in neighbouring countries.

As a family, we take great pride in our personal attention to detail, timeous service delivery and most of all, the quality of our food products.

Milli's Peri-Peri

This delicious medium strength peri-peri sauce adds zing to everything from chicken to seafood. Careful, it's addictive!

The parable of the prodigal chilli sauce delight Lies in the story of our Midlands Milli and her birth right.

Born in Stanger, famous for its Indian curry
She was able to unravel the ultimate secret flavor in no hurry.

If you think that golf and bridge are the only products of her hand - here is something that will surely draw a line in the sand !

We believe we are what we eat!

At the Midlands Food Company, we pride ourselves on sourcing only the healthiest options and using the highest quality ingredients available in the careful preparation of all products.

Preservatives are used sparingly, and only where absolutely necessary.

Our factory adheres to the most stringent levels of hygiene and when fresh mountain water is required, it is both filtered and UV sterilized.

All packaging is food grade quality and wherever possible, is biodegradable or recyclable.
